

RULES FOR POSTING

This blog is for visual art news, discussions about issues in visual art, a place to share personal artwork, a place to give critiques, write reviews and editorials, share NWACC Art Club news and events from the Club's calendar, and much, much more. There are a few rules if you want to be a regular contributor to this blog and they are:

1. No personal attacks on posters or individuals or groups. Posters are expected to be civil.
2. If you are making assertions or arguments that are not ideas original to you, give credit to the original source.
3. No chat language (must use plain English and adhere to grammatical rules as well as possible).
4. Posting of blatantly false or malicious information is prohibited.
5. Profanity and remarks considered in 'poor taste' are prohibited.
6. No advertising or commercials are allowed on this Blog.

These rules apply to people who comment on posts as well. Consequences for violating these rules include but might not be limited to 1) removal of blog entry, and 2) access to the blog will be terminated.
